

PULLING HORSE OWNERS

There will be a $50.00 stalling fee per horse. Please include this with your entry along with the dates for which you will need stalls. You must check in with the Horse Superintendent, or his designate, when you arrive and also before you depart. If you arrive on the day that you state on your entry, have the number of horses with you that you stated on the entry form, leave on the date you indicated that you would on your entry, and keep your stalls clean right up until time of departure, the stalling fees you paid will be refunded and mailed to you after the Fair. Otherwise, no refund will be made. (This is going to be strictly enforced in 2006.) The purpose of this, hopefully, is to enable us to regulate and be able to accommodate more horses for the full week. As most of you know, we haven't been able to house or take entries for nearly as many as would like to come, even though we have built draft horse barns to the extent of our capacity.

We intend to have some rope or guide behind the draft horses in the barns for viewer safety. We'll be having seating room in the pulling ring for the convenience and safety of the owners and drivers who aren't pulling at that time. We'll allow two helpers in the ring with each pair of horses. There will be some sort of tickets or armbands for those eligible to be in the seated area.

The reason for these changes is for the safety of the people that view the horses in the barns and in the ring, and the safety of the horse owners and the teamsters. Also, most of the accidents that we have had here during the Fair have been due to draft horses, and this has driven our insurance costs much higher than those of other fairs.

Thank you in advance for your co-operation. This is a big show, and it is very important to both parties concerned, and if we work together we can have a much better and safer show. Horse scales are available at any time for checking weights.

- All drags to be left in exercise area only!
- Horses to be weighted with regulation style flat halters—no rope halters allowed.
- Lead rope must be on horses at all times.
- No running of horses in exercise area.
- No cattle; llamas; or alpacas allowed in horse area.
- Unload & load horses inside safety area!
- There must be a header leading teams to and from pulling ring.

Once horses have been unloaded they must remain in the safety area. (For safety reasons) Each horse's halter must have a minimum weight of one (1) pound.

The use of sweat blankets will not be allowed. One written warning will be issued for violation, and you cannot pull the next day. Certificate of proof of EHV-1 vaccination is required with entry by August 15th.
